

Birth Choice Story and Fact Sheet

Client Stories from 2023 and 2024:

Actual names have been changed to protect privacy.

- 1. When “Khloe” came to our Jackson clinic, she was nervous. Her Client Advocate, Tammy, assured her that she was safe and in the right place! Khloe was undecided between abortion and parenting and had a lot of questions about abortion. She also seemed interested in the information about fetal development that Tammy gave her, and Tammy told her that God brought her to Birth Choice. Khloe also seemed interested when she saw all the mom and baby supplies in the resource room and smiled as she looked at the baby pictures on the wall. As Tammy hugged her goodbye, Khloe said, “I’m glad I came today.” Tammy called her a few days later and Khloe giggled as she told Tammy she chose life!*
- 2. From considering abortion to, “I hope this is a boy” – one year after Roe v. Wade was overturned, God was still working miracles in the hearts of our clients. This is why our volunteers and staff pray before each shift, asking God to guide their conversations. “Camille” came to our Gibson County office last summer, and the talk with her Client Advocate and her ultrasound made a big difference! She was originally considering abortion as she had just broken off an abusive relationship and already had other children. Camille’s client advocate was able to share her own story, share the gospel, and pray with her. She made sure Camille knew that we are here for her, no matter what! At the ultrasound, she saw her tiny, six-week baby and chose life.*
- 3. We saw a baby saved the DAY BEFORE the scheduled abortion appointment! “Serena” came to our Jackson clinic three days before her abortion appointment out of state. During her ultrasound, the fetal heart rate was only 72, which was low for how far along she was. Because there was a possibility she could miscarry, we scheduled another ultrasound for just two days later, the day before the abortion appointment. At the second ultrasound they found the baby’s heart rate had jumped to 112, and Serena chose life! For the heart rate to jump so high in just two days is very rare. Only God could have written this story. To mere humans, it looks like it was a close call for this little one. But God knew exactly what He was doing! Serena and her family are now very excited about the baby.*
- 4. Last year, “Ella” boarded one of our Mobile Clinics considering abortion because she already had a baby at home. However, she smiled as she saw and heard her baby’s heartbeat on ultrasound and allowed our nurse and Client Advocate to pray with her. On her exit survey, she wrote that this was the “best and most informational appointment EVER.” Ella left choosing life for her little baby!*

5. Sometimes the littlest things will touch the hearts of the young women we serve. The moment “Camilla’s” sweet Volunteer Advocate placed a pair of homemade baby booties and a 12-week fetal model in her hands, Camilla changed her mind on abortion and chose life! She was so excited about her decision for life and texted a photo of the booties and model to the father of her baby, who is now excited to be a father. Camilla is joining our ESTHER childbirth classes at our Jackson office, and we can’t wait to help her throughout her pregnancy!
6. Having a baby when finances are tight can be very hard. That’s where Birth Choice comes in! “Crystal” also found herself pregnant and facing financial obligations. Because of that, she was considering abortion. Understandably, she seemed nervous when she came to us. At her appointment, Crystal not only learned medically accurate information about abortion and its risks, but also about our parenting classes, mommy and baby supplies, and the support she will receive throughout her pregnancy. By the end of the session, she was no longer considering abortion! She said she knew she didn’t need to abort and that it was wrong. Please pray for Crystal, that God will provide for her family’s needs and draw them to Himself.
7. “Krista” came to our bus in Brownsville when she was carrying her first baby, so she knew who to turn to when she got pregnant again. She considered abortion when she first boarded our bus, but after talking with our advocate about all her pregnancy options and resources available to her, she said it “cleared her mind” and she chose life! This is why accurate information is so powerful, and Krista’s advocate made sure to go over everything in detail. During her ultrasound, Krista saw the heartbeat of her seven-week baby. Krista is considering making an adoption plan, but she may parent instead. Please pray for God to give Krista wisdom on this decision.
8. Our Client Advocates and nurses have an opportunity to encourage our clients in many areas of their lives, not just regarding pregnancy. “Cora’s” Client Advocate at the Jackson clinic, Tammy, noticed she looked “weepy” when she came to Birth Choice. Tammy asked her how she was doing, and Cora opened up about several stressors in her life as well as the postpartum depression she was struggling with. “It’s all too much,” she said. Tammy asked if she could pray over her, and Cora said yes. The nurse, Kim, gave her some practical steps to get the help she needs for her mental health. When Tammy asked her what her decision is for her baby, she said she couldn’t decide right now. She seemed very distraught and unsure about a lot of things. But God is working on healing her heart! When Cora came for her follow-up ultrasound appointment, she chose life! She is getting the professional help she needs, and we noticed she seems to be doing better. Praise God for bringing Cora and her family through this difficult time in her life!
